SERPENTS MEET IN BATTLE UNDER SEA AND ITALIAN WASP LOSES FRAY

Sensational Engagement Takes Place Off Naval Base of Pola, In Adriatic, During Which Austrian Raider Launches Torpedo

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY TINY SUBMARINES MEET

German Blockader Halts British Merchant Ship, Sends Crew Away and Blows Up Vessel—Turkish Transports Destroyed

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
ROME, June 18.—Submarine met submarine yesterday, in a battle under the sea, and the Italian was vanquished.

In this war, submarines have sunk warships and warships have sunk submarines, either by gunfire or by ramming; dirigibles and aeroplanes have joined battle above the clouds; aeroplanes have pursued and brought down aeroplanes; battlecruisers and Zeppelins have hurled shells and bombs at each other; men have fought in burrows underground and have charged over the crusted snow on skis; but this is the first time in the history of the world that men have fought in the green shadows beneath the sea.

Both Submarines Dive

The Italian submarine Medusa while cruising off the Austrian naval base at Pola, was sighted by an Austrian submarine reconnoitering against possible attacks by the Italian navy.

Both submarines dived, and the Austrian let go a torpedo in the general direction of the Italian, as a hunter shoots in the brush at the sound of a flushed bird he cannot see.

It was a lucky shot. The torpedo was true. A burst of broken metal and white water thrown high in the air showed where the explosion had taken place. Then a wide smear of oil spread silently over the waves.

The official Italian bulletin recording the loss mentions the recovery of no bodies.

TWO BRITISH SHIPS SUNK

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, June 18.—The British steamship Turnwell was sighted yesterday by a German submarine off Milford Haven, Wales, and halted by a shot across her bows from the submarine's pivot gun.

The submarine came alongside and the commander ordered the crew to take to the boats. They obeyed and the Germans sent a boarding party into the Turnwell, and placed bombs in her hull.

Another Blown Up

Sighting the British steamship Trafalord in the distance, they left in haste, and, from the small boat, the crew of the Turnwell was later able to see the Trafalord blown up. They could not tell, though, whether she was torpedoed or sunk by more of the same sort of bombs planted in their own ship.

The Turnwell, though badly torn by the explosion of the bombs, did not sink, and, seeing that she was likely to remain afloat for some time, the crew returned to her and brought her into Milford Haven.

Turkish Transports Destroyed

Despatches from Athens yesterday carried word that a British submarine, threading the narrows of the Dardanelles, sank three Turkish transports carrying reinforcements to the fortifications. The greater part of the troops are said to have been drowned. No confirmation has been posted here by the admiralty.

It was officially admitted yesterday in Berlin that the German submarine U-14 has been sunk by the British, who captured the crew.

Russ Retreat Soon May End With Counter

Military Experts Expect Repetition of Marne in Great Front in Galicia

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, June 18.—Russia continues to break ground before the advancing Germanic Allies.

Austrian troops yesterday occupied Nimerow, thirty miles from Lemberg, and pushed on farther forward.

It seems probable that the Russians will make a final stand somewhere in the vicinity of Grodik.

Repetition of Marne Expected

British military writers profess to see in the Russian retreat from Hungary and Galicia a repetition of the British and French retreat from Belgium into France to within a few miles of Paris, where they launched concealed reserves on the German column and, in the battle of the Marne, broke it and forced it to retire to defensive positions.

Vienna reports, however, that the Russian retreat is on a larger scale. Airscoots have brought back word that the armies of the Czar are withdrawing across their own border into Poland.

Decisive Battle Raging

Berlin, through the Overseas News Agency, makes the same assertion. Decisive results may be expected soon from a battle now in progress along the whole Russian front, stretching 682 miles through Poland, Galicia and Bukovina.

The Russians, says Berlin, have abandoned their positions north of Sielawa, on the San River, and are in full retreat from Galicia toward Tarnograd, Poland.

'MIDDIES' ON TRIAL MADE SCAPEGOATS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

ANNAPOLIS, June 18.—Testifying yesterday before the court of inquiry convened by order of Secretary Daniels, Midshipman H. M. Mullinix gave what he said was the consensus of opinion among his fellows.

"Most of the midshipmen believe," he said, "that the seven defendants on trial here were picked as scapegoats by the original investigators who convicted them."

The defendants were found guilty by three officers of the naval academy faculty of having cheated in examinations.

ORGANIZED LABOR MOVES FOR PEACE

Samuel Gompers Makes Public Plan He Thinks Will Put End To War

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Undeterred by the failure of the Socialists to accomplish anything to avert war or bring peace, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made public last night an ambitious plan by which he hopes union labor may achieve better success.

Some time ago, it is revealed, the federation proposed to the central labor organization of France a world labor conference, to meet in conjunction with an international peace conference. France, it is announced, has accepted, and Gompers expects the labor unions of other nations to follow suit.

United labor, the American leader believes, could bring such pressure to bear on the governments of the various belligerents that they would be forced to conclude peace.

With former President Taft presiding, an American branch of the league to enforce peace was organized yesterday in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. Taft was elected president of the branch, and many other prominent American citizens were named vice presidents.

The league, as planned, will include all the nations in a federation pledged to submit international disputes to a judicial tribunal representing the signatory powers.

Any nation which violated the judgments of this tribunal would be disciplined by an international army and navy.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, June 17.—The Central News Agency publishes a despatch from Amsterdam saying that a traveler from Ghent brings the report of a revolt last Tuesday of the inhabitants of Malines, who are under German military government. The German soldiers quelled the revolt by firing into the crowd, killing 200 civilians, says the story, which is unconfirmed. Since the occurrence, according to the traveler, Malines has been isolated by means of electrified wire fences.

PREPAREDNESS ONLY PROVOKES WAR: BRYAN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Asserting that "preparedness" provokes rather than prevents war, and that the upheaval of Europe is the result of the false philosophy that "might makes right," former Secretary Bryan today issued the second section of his statement on the cause of war and his cure for it. He submits arguments in today's statement against military preparation and praises the course of the President in international emergency.

Terrific Fighting Between Teutons and French On Northwestern Front Reported, With Both Sides Claiming Advantage

WILHELM HAS PLANNED RAID IN RETALIATION

For Attack On Karlsruhe By Aeroplanes of Allies, Kaiser Will Send Airships Against London and Paris Simultaneously

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

PARIS, June 18.—Intense activity, with powerful attacks and counter attacks alternating, is reported from the northwestern front.

Between Craix Noullette and Souchez it is estimated that the Germans have concentrated 154,000 men, in an effort to "nunch" such a blow that it will shatter the constant gnawing French offensive.

Both sides admit that there have been heavy losses, but from the opposing claims of the official bulletins it would appear that neither commander has won any success of importance.

Airships Harry Germans

At Bellegarde the Germans contend that they have won back the trenches recently captured by the French, while the French assert that at Givenchy seven hundred Germans were taken prisoners while a French air squadron, by bombarding effectively the German reserves, prevented them from coming to the defense of their advance trenches.

In the same bulletin, France claims some progress on the banks of the River Fesche.

London and Paris Threatened

News from Friedrichshaven, received by Way of Geneva, is that in retaliation for the recent activity of the Allies' aeroplanes, Germany is preparing for a great concerted air raid on London and Paris, to be delivered at approximately the same hour by both aeroplanes and Zeppelins.

Fuller details have brought the total losses at Karlsruhe from the French air raid to twenty-two dead and seventy-two injured.

The aeroplanes and Zeppelin factories at Friedrichshaven are working on double shifts.

An Italian dirigible bombarded the trenches of the enemy yesterday along the Divaca railroad branch and succeeded in doing serious damage to the Austrian defenses.

In the official bulletins, successes are claimed on both fronts, particularly in the valley of the Adige, leading to Trient.
